

EPIC Long Island Hosts Grand Slam Golf Outing

WABC News Anchor Carolina Leid Emcee's Event & Played Some Golf

East Meadow, NY, September 8, 2014 — EPIC Long Island, which provides premier treatment, care, education and support to those with epilepsy and intellectual or emotional challenges, held its annual golf outing on August 12 at an exclusive golf course located in the heart of Long Island's Gold Coast. The event welcomed this year's EMCEE, WABC News Anchor Carolina Leid, who also took to the greens, as well as hosted the event's live auction.

While the day may have been overcast, hundreds of supporters — including sponsors, golfers and friends of EPIC Long Island — came out to help make this year's golf outing outshine previous golf events. The generous donations to EPIC Long Island will ensure that the agency continues to provide critical health and support programs across Long Island. All donations will directly benefit individuals with epilepsy, developmental disabilities and mental health challenges.

"EPIC Long Island thanks all its supporters for a grand event," said EPIC Long Island President and CEO Tom Hopkins. "Without your support, EPIC Long Island could not continue to enhance our programs and enrich the lives of those we serve."

Each year the golf outing seems to get better and better and judging by the feedback from the participants this year was another great outing, noted EPIC Long Island Board President Jeffrey Nagel. "Personally, I would like to thank Carolina Leid for participating in the event, Charles DeVerna and family for being our lead sponsor, and all of our dedicated committee members for putting in their time to make this outing such a success," Nagel said. "EPIC depends on the generosity of our Long Island community and they again came through for us."

ABOUT EPIC LONG ISLAND

EPIC began in 1953 with a small group of parents whose mission was to help children with epilepsy lead productive lives. Over sixty years later, the organization has fulfilled that promise with 15 residences, two clinics, and dozens of programs that serve over 10,000 individuals annually. EPIC has broadened its mission to offer more social and health services across Long Island and has grown to serve not only individuals with epilepsy, but also those with developmental disabilities and mental health challenges. While epilepsy is at its core, the organization offers a spectrum of superior services for individuals and families with different needs. EPIC's mission is to enrich the lives of those they serve through quality care, a broad range of services and an unwavering commitment to excellence.
